Voters Of State To Name Victors In Republican Battle

By JOHN PAGET

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent) HARRISBURG, May 15 .- A violent primary campaign will wind up tomorrow when Pennsylvania voters go to the polls to nominate candidates for the general election.

The Democratic primary is virtually cut and dried but the factional fight in Republican ranks will spark some interest. Apathy Among Voters

Reports from the field during the closing weeks of the 1950 drive indicated a great deal of apathy among voters despite the slambang campaign waged by the Duff-Fine and Kunkel-Cooke forces.

A light vote is expected to favor the Duff-Fine ticket while a betterthan-expected turnout should run in favor of the Kunkel-Cooke slate. The consensus in both camps is that not more than 30 to 45 per cent of the more than 2,862,000 Republicans elgible to vote will go to the polls tomorrow. The Democratic registration is 1,926,000.

The polls in 8,347 precincts will open at 8 a. m. EDT and close 13 hours later.

Chief Battle

The main event will be the out-come of the battle for the gubernatorial nomination between Phila-delphia businessman Jay Cooke and former Superior Court Judge John S. Fine.

Cooke and Cong. John C. Kunkel, of Harrisburg, candidate for the U. S. senatorial nod, are running with the endorsement of former U. S. Sen. Joseph R. Grundy

St. Mary's church was filled capacity-the entire nave and transcrepts-on Sunday morning when the solemn high mass of thanksgiving was sung at 8 o'clock opening the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the Holy Name society in Lawrence county.

Marking sincere devotion on Mother's Day, the procession of the clergy began as the senior male choir sang the ancient Catholic hymn of the fifth century, "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother". Arrayed in gold vestments, the officers of the holy mass filled the sanctuary, forming a contrast to the deep scarlet of the Monsignor and the rich black of the Arch-Abbott. # Just In The Offing (By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—When the Senate last week began its filibuster on FEPC, another type of forced hiring was taking shape in the brains of the Labor bosses. Not long ago Phillip Murray, president of the CIO, dropped a hint of it in a press conference here. He has since repeated the hint, at least by implication, in several speeches around the country. This other idea of forced hiring is simply to lower the 40-hour week to 35-hours or maybe 30 hours. The immediate result would be to require appropriate hire more workers. immediate result would be to require employers to hire more workers.

Hint Is Worth Noting

Mr. Murray's hint is worth noting because of previous experience. The American public should know by now that what Labor demands today, the Fair Deal will be demanding in its next election trial. FEPC began this way. So did the Taft-Hartley repeal efforts. So did the Brannan Farm Plan which, as most people now know, was born in a CIO convention and laid like a foundling on Secretary Brannan's doorstep somewhat later.

In his various statements, soon to be echoed by other Laborites Mr. Murray has laid groundwork for the shorter-week demand. He is pointing out in speeches and interviews that the industrial world is enjoying unexampled prosperity. Profits, he says, were never higher than in the past three years, but the workers have not shared in the benefits of high wages. Even the casual observer will find this a little hard to swallow, in view of $100-a-month pensions.

On Solider Ground

But on another point Mr. Murray is on solider ground. He is saying, wherever he makes a speech, that unemployment is still with Over the past three years, he says, the unemployment figure rises by about one million jobless a year. This is a sober figure to contemplate, but a more melancholy one needs to be put beside it. In order to create new jobs, business must spend about $10,000 per worker, according to recent calculations. With no real tax relief in prospect, with the national debt due for another hike each year, it ecomes harder and harder for industry to absorb new workers.

Yet, plainly, the solution does not lie in reducing the work week, by Federal law, as Mr. Murray is beginning to suggest. John L. Lewis has done this by his 3-day and no-day weeks—and look at the mining industry! Employers have done it in the past by spreading the work in certain kinds of industry. But there are very few industries which can afford to make this sacrifice to efficiency. The certain result of a Federal 35 or 30-hour limit would be less man-hour productivity, loss of profits and finally an epidemic of business failure. The worker would suffer more, not less, insecurity. The nation would become less able to maintain itself as a self-supporting, not to mention world-supporting industrial unit.

Not So Plausible

The main threat in this idea of a shorter work week is that it is plausibl. It is exactly the sort of an idea which can be oversimplified from the back-platform of a train at whistle-stops. It sounds so easy. It lends itself to so many phony references to fair play and unselfishness. If we have a real depression by 1952—or even if we don't-this new panacea is almost certain to go on sale for votes.

Nor is it too early to start contemplating its place in the Fair Deal scheme of things. Mr. Truman, we shouldn't forget, began his elected term by asking for stabilization powers which included the government ownership of steel mills. His cohorts in House and Senate have attacked various large industries (but not large unions) on the ground that they are monopolies. The Brannan Farm Plan and the Ewing Medical Plan have been given trial flights. All of these efforts have been temporarily turned back, but they add up to mean an attempt at economic control such as the Labor Government holds

A spread-the-work scheme fits perfectly into this over-all picture, and it needs to be watched for further development. When Mr. Murray takes snuff, Mr. Truman usually sneezes.

Gen. Bradley May Be Named For New Post

By KINGSBURY SMITH European General Manager, International News Service LONDON, May 15.—(INS)-

Western determination to remain in Germany until Russia consents to German unification was underlined today for the North Atlantic Treaty Council, opening a threeday conference in London.

The announcement of western policy was made last night in a communique issued by U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

The communique also held out for West Germany the prospect of a relaxation of occupation controls but only on the condition that the German people display progress along democratic lines.

Report Bradley To Be Named Diplomatic circles in London said that the western big three also have agreed to make General Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, virtual, commander in chief of the security forces of the 12 nations in the North Atlantic pact.

His new position would super-sede that held by Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, head of the western union defense forces.

Bradley's reported appointment may succeed in ironing out differences which have plagued the relationship between British and French military figures under the present arrangement.

SENIOR HIGH STUDENTS REMOVE PAINTED NUMERALS

Students of New Castle Senior high (both boys and girls), used Saturday to remove the paint from the high school sidewalk. The paint was put on early Sunday morning a week ago. It carried slogans to the graduating class of May, 1950. The students used a strong caustic solution and plenty of elbow grease in the cleaning job. The sidewalk was then flush with clear water, washing away the last of the paint.

IMPORTANT TO YOU Mr., Mrs. and Miss Average Citizen

To the Republican Voters of Lawrence County

We thank you for the courteous manner in which you have received our appeals for support of JOHN S. FINE, candidate for

We submit that this campaign is important to you. We respectfully suggest you should not neglect your opportunity to vote, just because certain people have tried to lead you down the side streets. The Country Club Set will all be out to vote.

The issue has never changed. The decision which you must make it whether you want a Republican State Administration at Harrisburg which will do what you want done, or whether you want a Republican Administration which will do what Grundy wants done.

JOHN S. FINE

ANY ADMINISTRATION CAN PASS LAWS; "THEN DO NOTHING"

Any administration can put the tax burden where it wants to put the tax burden.

Cooke and Grundy want "tax RELIEF for the manufacturers".

Jim Duff early told "the Grundy Boys" who wanted this "tax RE-LIEF" for manufacturers; "if you think I am going to give you a free seat in the grandstand when I am raising the price of the bleacher seats, you're crazy".

The present administration at Harrisburg and the Legislature have not only "passed laws," but have done things. The tax burden has been put on the people evenly and fairly. There has been no "scandal," about how your tax money has been spent.

Stream clean-ups, adequate mental hospitals, extensive highway programs, children's clinics, increased appropriations for education and reforestation, do cost money. These are things people cannot do for themselves. State government must do them and these things are being done NOW.

JOHN S. FINE, is committed to continue this program.

BUT THIS PROGRAM CAN BE BLOCKED

AND WHO DO YOU THINK MIGHT BLOCK IT? THIS IS WHY THE CAMPAIGN IS IMPORTANT TO YOU.

Sincerely and respectfully,

Council decided that inasmuch

My Friends:

Thru the years I have tried to expound the theory of clean independent Republican government. At many times I have stood alone against terrific odds and have been castigated by the Demogogue, the machine and it's henchman. The results of the last two elections has verified my previous actions, and gives proof to my present thoughts that you, the people, want to be independently governed and represented, so that in the process of living you shall have no fears of retribution upon your family, your friends or you for your political beliefs.

I have taken this stand and entered this election so that this county, this state, shall have, in the not too distant future, a new birth of political freedom; that, the demagogue, the political machine, the gestapo like tactics of each, the other subversive and detrimental elements, shall not become a part in the control of your everyday life. As I know the leaders of these groups shall always remain less friendly to you and I, regardless of how they camouflage their feelings and actions.

I ask you to think very carefully about the candidate you choose tomorrow, Tuesday, May 16th. MAKE SURE YOU VOTE—BUT VOTE INDEPENDENTLY, IT IS YOUR INALIENABLE RIGHT AND IS THE BASIS AND THE FOUNDATION OF YOUR FUTURE.

Senators Defeat Erie And Youngstown, Climb Into First Place

Becka, Janacone Pitch Victories Over Weekend, Athletics Here Tonight

rung in the Middle-Atlantic Class C race today, by virtue of two well pitched games over the weekend, by George Becka over Erie 7-2 Saturday night, and young Dick Janacone, the New Castle boy, over Youngstown yesterday, at Flaherty Memorial Field, 4-3.

Youngstown and New Castle will play here tonight with Manager Chuck Cronin having nominated Herb Churchill (2-0) to face the dangerous Athletics in a game set for 8:30 o'clock due to Monday shopping

Herm Kiel Blasts Homer

Big Herman Kiel blasted his second homer of the current season yesterday as leadoff man in the seventh inning to untie a 2-2 game and give Janacone a lift, and before the inning was over New Castle shoved another run over the plate to make it 4 to 2, as Al Dunterman slammed a single to right to count Tommy Famiglietti from second, a spot he reached after a walk and a sacrfice by Johnny Vizzini.

Dan Ring, the Youngstown hurler, held New Castle to five hits but they all counted. Janacone gave up seven hits and kept them scattered. Janacone got good support, but Ring was the victim of two miscues, that hurt.

Becka Allows Five Hits

Becka Allows Five Hits

Becka got perfect support Saturday night at Erie, The Senators turning in an errorless game and picking the Erie Sailors off on a honey of a double play at a dangerous spot. A fast double play yesterday, Dan Dondero to George Eikenberg to Vizzini also helped a short try with the Nats. Janacone out of a second inning hole. Becka gave up but five hits and fanned seven.

Close to a 1,000 persons sat in the stands on a perfect baseball weather day to watch The Senators trim the arch rivals from Youngstown. It was billed as a "Mother's Day, Ladies' Game", quite a number of the fair sex turning out.

Thanks Youngstown

Thanks to the Youngstown team with a 4 to 3 win over Butler Saturday night, the New Castle team enjoys a half-game advantage in the top spot. Of course, too, thanks are due to George Becka for a splendid five-hitter on a cold Saturday night at Erie.

The Senators hopped on Bil Ciske for all seven runs in the first three innings, but the errors be hind the Gob flinger were mainly responsible.

Ciske gave way to Charley Hag in the third and he limited the Nats to two hits before he gave way to a pinch-hitter in the eight and Bob Olson checked the visitors in the ninth

Dondero Drives In 2 Dan Dondero got two of New Castles seven hits and drove in two runs. He was the only man to receive credit in this respect. The Senators now have four pitchers ready to take over starting berths, Stan Zedalis, Herb Churchill, George Becka and Dick Janacone, with the veteran Frank Wagner sitll on the ailing list. Wagner's return to his 1949 form (18-9) would give the Senators one of the most formidable staffs in the league. Neal Marino, Carl Schultz and Cronin are on hand for relief jobs at the moment. Janacone Pulls Through

Young 20-year-old Janacone did swell job yesterday, justifying the faith of Manager Cronin in starting him in a tough spot to try and hold first place. He was a ltitle nervous at the start, but set- ERIE tled down. He fanned two and walked four. Ring, a 17-3 winner last year, fanned one and walked Kress, 3b, If Muller, cf

Zedalis is slated to face the Athletics Tuesday evening. The Or-lando, Fla., boy has a 1-1 record this year, having trimmed Johnstown and lost a heart-breaking 2 to 1 game at Erie.
Not Fence Busters

The Senators are not knocking the cover off the ball, but are getting hits when hits mean runs, and that's counts. Afield the Senators are playing a snappy brand of baseball and it is hoped that they can keep it up. New Castle's great double play combination around the keystone sack in Eikenberg and Dondero is becoming the talk of the league. New Castle has dropped the "cousin" role in the Mid-Atlantic league, two years was long enough. Those 1950 Senators are not going to win them all, but the team that beats them will know they have been in a ball game.

The St. Louis Cardinals took over second place with an 8-to-7 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Lefty Hal Newhouser made his 1950 pitching debut and fared poorly. The Detroit Tiger ace left-hander, sidelined by a sore arm, was the victim as the St. Louis Browns beat the American league pace-setters, 7 to 3.

In the nightcap the Nats managed to outslug the Bostonians, 10 to 5. The Philadelphia Athletics broke a five-game Yankee winning streak by rallying for seven runs in the fifth inning and a 9-to-8 win over
